Re: Report for NLLN Professional Engagement Award for the ALA Midwinter Meeting, January 2011, San Diego

Thank you for the support you have provided through the Professional Engagement Award to attend the Midwinter Meeting in San Diego. I served in a variety of ways once again which included serving as Secretary for ACRL's College Libraries Section Executive Committee, serving on ACRL's College Libraries Section Leadership Committee as Chair, serving on LITA's Assessment and Research Committee, and serving on ACRL's Assessment Committee, as well as serving as a Reporter for Cognotes.

As Chair of the Leadership Committee (was asked in October to complete the appointment of the Chair who needed to step down), we continued work on nominations for the "CLS ProQuest Innovation in College Librarianship Award." On LITA's Assessment and Research Committee, we continue to work on the assessment activities within the Division and I will be working on the next LITA membership survey with another committee member. On the ACRL Assessment Committee, we held our inaugural meeting and will be doing a lot of work to best determine how, through assessment and research activities, we might best serve the membership of ACRL. Another primary responsibility of mine leading up to the Annual Conference in New Orleans will be to do work for the program our committee is presenting in New Orleans on the Return On Investment of Libraries. I also began my appointment as Secretary for CLS, a position to which I narrowly won election. I appreciate being at the table where a number of CLS issues are discussed and that I have a voice in those discussions.

During the San Diego Midwinter Meeting, I covered the following stories for Cognotes:

Voeller, Stacy L. "Electronic Resource Management as a Tool for Public Service." Cognotes [San Diego, CA] 9 Jan. 2011: 9. Cognotes. American Library Association. <
