

Minnesota Multi-county, Multi-type Library Systems

MINNESOTA MULTITYPE LIBRARY SYSTEMS

The seven multi-county, multi-type library systems function as an intermediary between all types of libraries, ensuring that resources are shared and cooperation occurs among all library types, including academic libraries, public libraries, school libraries, and special libraries in Minnesota. Through library cooperation and resource sharing, Minnesotans receive the best library service possible, in the most efficient manner. Each multi-county, multi-type system is as unique as the libraries they serve.

The multi-county, multi-type library systems in Minnesota are:

Arrowhead
Central Minnesota Libraries Exchange (CMLE)
Metronet
Northern Lights Library Network (NLLN)
Prairielands Library Exchange
Southeast Library System (SELS)
Traverse de Sioux Library Cooperative (TdS)

The seven multi-county, multi-type library systems in Minnesota are mandated by Minnesota Statute 134.351 to develop and maintain services including, but not limited to, “referral of users, intra-system reciprocal borrowing, cooperative collection development, cooperative reference services, staff development, research and development, cooperative storage facilities, and publicity and community relations”. There are twelve regional public library systems in Minnesota that serve public libraries, while the seven multi-type systems serve all types of libraries. Each system has its own governing board. The five goals outlined in Minnesota Statute 134.351 for multi-county, multi-type systems include:

- Share Resources Among all Participating Libraries
- Provide Long-range Planning for Cooperative Programs
- Develop a Delivery System for Services and Programs
- Development of a Bibliographic Database
- Maintain a Communications System Among all Cooperating Libraries
